Leprino Foods has validated, verifiable food safety programs and management systems in place, which we regularly assess and improve to ensure effectiveness and to integrate new food safety tools and practices.

Health and Safety
Our Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) recordable incident rate and DART (days of restricted work activity or job transfer) rate increased by 18% and 11%, respectively, in 2018. Despite the increase, both were more than 40% lower than the Food Manufacturing average (U.S. Department of Labor’s Bureau of Labor Statistics). The Allendale and Lemoore East plants passed 1 million hours without a lost-time injury.

ENVIRONMENTAL RESPONSIBILITY
We continue to push toward our improvement goals. Energy intensity decreased slightly from 2013 baseline (1.12%); however, recent projects have led to a greater reduction in our carbon footprint. GHG emissions intensity decreased 8.91% from 2013 baseline to 2018, approaching our 10% reduction goal.

Water intensity increased due to product mix and food safety and quality demands. This prompted a more focused approach to water, including a metering project to understand usage with more granularity and inform future conservation and efficiency efforts.

NOTES

Safely: We compare our fiscal-year safety performance with the latest available annual data from OSHA for the top quartile of the food manufacturing industry sector; therefore, the top quartile values for FY2018 correspond with the OSHA report for calendar year 2016. Industry values used reflect weighted calculations based on location sizes. Environmental: The intensity measures cover our U.S. plants and exclude our headquarters. Recalculation of indirect GHG data with 2016 eGrid factors issued in 2018 resulted in nominal change from previously reported values.
In simple terms, Global Responsibility (GR) is a platform that formalizes our commitment to doing things the right way. It stems from our core values of quality, service, competitive price and ethics, guiding everything we do. Our GR strategy encompasses five categories with priority areas of focus that address the economic, environmental and social aspects of our operations and the main interests of our key stakeholders.
